A Newspaper's City Room
Uncle Sam's New Axe
Much Chopping Needed
Beer? Yes. What Else?
By Arthur Brisbane

THE CITY ROOM of a newspaper on election night is an interesting place, and exciting, even when you have seen it, year after year, for a long time. Dozens of "copy readers" sit in groups at different tables, sifting news from gossamer, young men are answering telegrams and running, solemn editors are preparing headlines and deciding what is happening.

Most definite news came from Massachusetts, which belongs to Roosevelt, apparently. Many American mothers are glad that Governor Roosevelt's mother is still with him. It is a fine thing for an American mother to hear that her son, after long years of earnest preparation and public service, has been elected President of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt's mother lives in witness a realization of a hope that doubtless was in her mind when her boy, Franklin, was a baby.

The number of actual voters in the United States yesterday was greater than ever before. More than forty million "free and independent citizens" spent the day going to school, taking one of the lessons in self-government that will stretch over hundreds of years before our self-governing education is complete.

Assuming, at this hour, that Governor Roosevelt has been elected, you may say Uncle Sam is like a farmer who has bought himself a new axe.

Ever new axe is bright, shiny, full of promise. But getting a new axe and cutting down the trees in our national forest of problems, DEPRESSION, UNEMPLOYMENT, ORGANIZED CRIME, is a big problem.

"Bear is coming back," undoubtedly. What about things more important than beer—prosperity, resumption of industrial activity, work in factories, mills, mines, and the old pay rolls with high wages?

What about the foundation of the nation, the farming population, and its welfare?

Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of a great American railroad builder, is dead. Her husband left a will that, to few words, gave everything he had, more than a hundred million, to his wife and thus proved his sound judgment.

Mrs. Harriman gave large sums, generously and intelligently, for public purposes, in addition to promoting enterprises in which her husband was interested. And what is most important, she has set an excellent example as owner of a great fortune.

While the Supreme Court on Monday was considering the case of the seven Alabama Negroes condemned to death, so-called "radicals" outside the Court attempted to picket the Court to impress their views on the judges. The police "rubbed frost" these supervisors of State Supreme Court justices. Many were hurt, 14 arrested.

These particular radicals and all others should realize that the Supreme Court requires no assistance in settling questions of constitutional law. That is their business.

A new trial was ordered for the seven Negroes by the way, on the ground that they had been deprived of the right of counsel. Two of the nine justices, McReynolds and Butler, refused, saying that the Supreme Court is not a court of appeals.

A royal commission, appointed to investigate the British dolo, its results and conclusions, reports in favor of the dolo. And you can understand why.

Widowers complete with the exception of Everett, John F. Fairbairn, Republican, was assured of reelection as sheriff of Milwau County over Stephen Gerrity with a total of 186,000 votes. Gerrity polled 139,000. Fairbairn has served as sheriff for 22 years. The term to which he was elected is of six years.

ELY GETS ROYAL GREETING FROM HOME FOLKS

Westfield, Nov. 8.—Fire apparatus, red fire, bands and drum corps, were included in the reception given Governor Ely at his home here—a celebration that lasted into the wee hours of today.

Twice, amid the din of the celebration, the governor stepped to the front porch of his home and availed himself of the greetings of the crowd.

State police were posted every few feet and yet had a hard time in keeping the pressing crowd from storming the gubernatorial home. The fire apparatus was in the nature of an impromptu, it responded to two false alarms near the Ely home. What matter if the ladders gave the bells and sirens a few extra twists.

Ely's home town did him proud and his support carried the section also for Franklin D. Roosevelt. Both recorded two votes in every one of the Republican candidates.

SMOOT BURIED IN UTAH SLIDE

Salt Lake City, Nov. 9 (AP)—A torrent of Democratic votes that swept Reed Smoot, the dean of the Senate, from office and apparently took with him every other Republican aspirant from top to bottom of the state ticket, was piling up majorities early today that approached 10,000.

With less than half the state's 312 districts reported, Dr. Elbert D. Thomas, University of Utah professor of political science, had a total of 3,022 votes to 27,964 for Senator Smoot, who has served 20 years in the Senate.

Manila, P. I., Nov. 9 (INS)—Gov. Theodore Roosevelt declined to comment today upon the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Presidency of the United States.

MAYNARD SEES GREAT VICTORY FOR PEOPLE

Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic State Committee made the following statement:

"Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gov. Joseph B. Ely have carried Massachusetts by extraordinary majorities, which demonstrates beyond doubt the confidence reposed in them by our people."

"My first inclination is to thank and to congratulate the loyal men and women of the Democratic organization who have borne the heaviest burden of attack and loyalty, like brave soldiers in the ranks."

"But the victory is not theirs entirely."

"The victory is of the people as a whole. They have ratified Governor Ely's splendid administration in Massachusetts; they are confident of his courage and his loyalty to the traditions of Massachusetts in a desperate period which required unusual talents of leadership."

"They have chosen Governor Roosevelt because he is the symbol of a new deal, because he typifies the cheerful and confident leadership which the country requires to move through and out of its difficulties."

"A great and serious responsibility has been conferred by the people upon the Democratic party. We will meet it, not in the spirit of partisan and triumph, but with the prayer that the country will move forward speedily in order that suffering and hardship may be dispensed by happiness and prosperity."

Maynard Thanks American for Work in Campaign

Editor,
The Boston Evening American,
Boston, Mass.
My Dear Sir:

The day has been long, the work hard and the strain great, but I can not leave my office before expressing to the Boston Evening American the deep debt of gratitude which the Democratic party of Massachusetts owes you for the glorious service you have rendered.

I have seen many campaigns in the past 30 years, and many important contests, but never have I seen the issues more adequately and convincingly presented than the Boston Evening American has done in this very important canvass.

Permit me to express the opinion that your news columns were fair and impartial; your editorial policy vigorous, logical and convincing.

The Democratic party is grateful, because the generous, unflinching support you gave was vital in the extraordinary victory that has been achieved.

The victory sweeps beyond all party bounds. You are, therefore, entitled to the compliments of the people of Massachusetts as a whole.

With deepest appreciation and with hearty congratulations, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Joseph A. Maynard,
Chairman, Democratic State Committee.

ROOSEVELT HANDILY SWEEP OF BAY STATE

The Republican grip on the governor's council was maintained. Roosevelt had told the people of this state that one-half of them were Massachusetts—"my mother's half." They greeted him as a long-lost brother.

The victory they handed him was unprecedented in the annals. He made the Smith victory of four years ago pale into insignificance. His majority outnumbered the Wilson victory of 1912, when Smith and Roosevelt were in, and attained the height never approached by any Democrat in a two-man contest.

The rural communities applauded Mr. Hoover to pieces, as the agriculturists did with glee in the counties and townships. Roosevelt took him to its arms with the exuberant majority of the electoral college.

YOUNGMAN KNIPPED

Ely's victory was the acme of his personal popularity. The folks didn't believe what Mr. Youngman said about him. He waved through Youngman in many of the rural sector.

In this city, where lifetime records of Democratic success were achieved, Mayor Curley threw his untutored and untried support to Governor Roosevelt and Knickerbocker. The only visible knicker was done to Youngman, notably in the strongholds controlled by Charles H. Jones, the Republican chief.

Roosevelt and Ely carried about 50 of the Bay State cities. The harmony with which this ran was demonstrated by the Boston totals. In some of the towns their votes were identical.

Congressman George Volkes Tinkham shared the triumph with them. Although shown in danger throughout the campaign, returning in season only in the polls, he was without a single speech he captured again the Roxbury sections which Roosevelt and Ely won overwhelmingly. Tinkham was the forgotten man of the campaign until his constituents began to vote. They remembered him.

Standing for prohibition, the ranking director of the Anti-Saloon League. For good measure they threw him plenty of votes for his irrevocable opposition to the League of Nations.

GROTON FOR HOOVER

Groton, where Roosevelt prepared for Harvard and where his young years are being chronicled, did quite well by him. He lost the town by 210 votes but, at that, secured by 40 per cent the South last there in 1928.

Southaven, where his mother maintains a summer residence, looked to him with the same loving devotion. He lost that town by 200 votes, as compared to the Smith defeat there of 400.

The story was told when New Ashford closed its polling place in the Berkshire in the early morning with the first announcement of Mr. Hoover's unpopularity. Mayor on Cape Cod sat in the same mood. Hoover fell off substantially from his totals of four years ago, while Roosevelt overtopped Smith in the same places by 30 per cent, at least.

New Bedford marshaled a margin of 7000 for Roosevelt. His Democratic predecessor had accumulated a net of only 3200 when he contested against Hoover.

HERALD OF VICTORY

The good news was hailed by Governor Roosevelt and by Chairman James A. Foley of the Democratic National Committee, who promptly announced:

"The fight is over. Roosevelt has swept the Nation by 10,000,000."

Thus, the isolated Berkshire hamlet, New Ashford, spread the first glad tidings to the world and New Bedford gave the exuberant evidence of the Roosevelt landslide in the nation.

Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic state committee talked on the phone with Governor Roosevelt shortly after these formal announcements.

"Governor," said Maynard, "you have won the state—4,000 at least."

"That's good," said Roosevelt, "but tell me about Joe Ely. How is he coming along?"

"Don't worry about him," said Maynard. "He's coming through in first-class shape."

"That's great," said Roosevelt. "I'm delighted to hear. He sure and give Joe my best."

The first concern of the President-elect of the United States is the welfare of his mother's half.

Youngman acknowledged his defeat with promptitude and grace. He telegraphed congratulations to Ely. He acknowledged that the next two years will test the governor's skill and he wished the governor the complete success in his task.

That done, the Republican chiefs looked their headquarters and awaited their respective honors without further comment.

Eachman went in respectable figures. It is the home of Chairman Frank A. Lyman of the Department of Public Works. Youngman had accused him of being the "lost of Joe Ely. Lyman showed him. Result: Ely, 1731; Youngman, 1214.

LODGE IS WINNER

Holyoke, following the lead of Seattle, New Bedford gave Roosevelt margins approximating certain verdicts of two years ago. From the opening until the closing of the polls, the signs were universal and unmistakable. Roosevelt fell off his vote, excepting, of course, his picked-up new voters in the suburbs.

Congressman George Volkes Tinkham was handily elected out in that area. In the famous Essex County stronghold, A. Platt, anti-Republican, hammered his way. Congress again over the redoubtable James D. Burns and this placed himself in line to run for the Senate against David L. Walsh two years hence.

ELY'S FATHER JOYFUL

Gov. Ely rested at his home this morning, enjoying the first glimpse from the most arduous campaign of his life. When John F. Fitzgerald and James M. Curley, respectively, his gubernatorial trail, his aged father, in politics many years ago, shared the joy of new distinctions. But for his father's urging, Governor Ely would have quit the political arena this year and retired to the practice of law.

The results in Massachusetts presented a strange anomaly. All though Roosevelt and Ely smashed out astounding measures of victory, the good people of the Bay State insisted upon keeping many of the distinguished stalwarts in their places.

Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican, was sent back by his constituents. Mrs. Edith Nurse Rogers remains from Lowell. Ely lost Mr. Frank J. Neill of Fitchburg was claimed to have some chance against Congressman Ross of Fitchburg but the voters spoke not that way. Foss margin was cut to zero, but there it stands, successfully.

William J. Granfield, of Springfield, who shocked the country by capturing the Republican stronghold in the first legislative election of 1928 that forwarded the country to Mr. Hoover's defeat, was re-elected. His opponent, John Le Brock, put up a tough fight, but not sufficient to overcome the ex-Notre Dame footballist.

Congressman William P. Connery, Jr., Democrat, of Lynn, got by again. Congressman John J. Douglas and John W. McCormack of Boston won with the overwhelming vote that could have been expected from the appearance of their districts.

CRANEY WAS UNFOUNDED

Daniel H. Craney, the stumpy pet of Massachusetts politics, was elected to the Governor's Council in a district so strongly Democratic that the foe of the opposite party encountered him.

Eugene B. Frazer, one of the Republican councillors who "repudiated" Mr. Youngman during the campaign, won for himself an other significant victory.

William H. McCarthy, Democrat,

Ely Rejoices in Public's Confidence

Governor Joseph B. Ely (D) in a public statement early today said:

"We rejoice in the victory of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner. I appreciate tremendously the confidence which our vote has given them. There is much to be done, and it will be done."

Gov. Ely's Youngman acknowledged his defeat with promptitude and grace. He telegraphed congratulations to Ely. He acknowledged that the next two years will test the governor's skill and he wished the governor the complete success in his task.

That done, the Republican chiefs looked their headquarters and awaited their respective honors without further comment.

HOOVER WEAK IN MICHIGAN

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 9 (U.S.)—President Hoover took a slight lead over Gov. Roosevelt in returns from various sections of Michigan today.

The polls did not close until 8 p. m. and the count was slow owing to a record-breaking ballot box. Willbur M. Bruckner was trailing his Democratic opponent, William A. Comstock.

All records for the city of Detroit were broken. Richard W. Reading, city clerk, estimated that 125,000 ballots had been cast. The previous record was 200,000.

Among the significant returns were those from 80 precincts in Kent county, which gave both Comstock and Comstock, substantial margins. Democrats predicted Hoover's scant margin shortly would be wiped out.

President Hoover 74,178.

In the senatorial contest, returns from 413 districts out of 3425 were: Percy H. Stewart, Democrat, 60,526.

Warren W. Barbour, Republican, 68,611.

Boy Badly Hurt

Haverhill, Nov. 8.—Seriously injured when pined between two automobiles on Merrimack at 13-year-old Clifford Cleave of 25 Franklin at is in Gale Hospital. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of his injuries.

93 Per Cent at Southbridge Polls

Southbridge, Nov. 9.—Two women at incidents marked Southbridge's balloting. First, 93 per cent of the largest registered vote in local history, 5645, turned out at the polls and second, the community's old estate male inhabitant, Herbert May, 81, cast his vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt. The election general was marked by a substantial margin.

4 Western States Go Wringing Wet

San Francisco, Nov. 9 (U.S.)—Four western states went "wet" in yesterday's election. California repealed her "hit-the-Volstead" prohibition enforcement law by a vote of almost 4 to 1.

Washington voted better than two to one to repeal its dry law.

Oregon's vote on repeal was 3,271 in favor to 19,500 against. Arizona voted nearly 2 to 1 to repeal its dry law.

Barbour Trails in New Jersey

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 9 (U.S.)—Late incomplete presidential returns in this state from 600 out of 1425 districts were:

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt 138,084.

President Hoover 74,178.

In the senatorial contest, returns from 413 districts out of 3425 were: Percy H. Stewart, Democrat, 60,526.

Warren W. Barbour, Republican, 68,611.

Boy Badly Hurt

Haverhill, Nov. 8.—Seriously injured when pined between two automobiles on Merrimack at 13-year-old Clifford Cleave of 25 Franklin at is in Gale Hospital. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of his injuries.

HOOVER VICTOR IN MAINE

Portland, Me., Nov. 9.—Maine, which less than two months ago overthrew Republican control of years to elect a Democratic governor and two congressmen, yesterday turned in a large majority for President Hoover.

The vote in 607 out of 832 precincts reported early today, was Hoover 160,002; Roosevelt 121,894.

Not since 1912, when the state went for Wilson, had the Democratic carried a presidential election here. The victory in the state election by narrow margin, in the gubernatorial and one of the congressional contests gave the Democrats an opening wedge, but the voters returned to the Republican fold no more.

The 1928 Republican majority was trimmed, however. Four years ago Hoover won from Smith, 179,923 to 81,179.

Arizona Governor Suddenly Stricken

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 8 (U.S.)—Governor George W. P. Hunt of Arizona was in a serious condition today in the St. Joseph's Hospital here as the result of a sudden attack of pneumonia.

United States Senator Dale was re-elected when he received 60,326 to 60,725 for Fred C. Martin, (D.)

PRE-PRIMARY PLAN ADOPTED

The state vote on the pre-primary convention referendum, with 1948 precincts complete out of 1707 in the state, was:

Yes, 311,741; no, 149,728.

This indicated that the Massachusetts voters were deciding very strongly in favor of holding party conventions to designate candidates, under certain restrictions, in advance of the regular primaries.

Vermont Holds Steadfast to G. O. P.

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 8.—The Green Mountain State of Vermont, which never gave a Democrat for national office a majority, continued that tradition in giving pluralities to the president, senatorial and congressional candidates.

President Hoover received the state's 3 electoral votes when he polled 91,691 to 70,660 for Gov. Roosevelt (D), Thomas (S) had 3430.

United States Senator Dale was re-elected when he received 60,326 to 60,725 for Fred C. Martin, (D.)

This guarantee is made to prove that the surest relief is to go back to first principles and use something that you KNOW does the work. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. You'll feel like a new person almost before you know it. Pain eased, congestion broken, your mind cleared and yourself ready to go back on the job with a will.

"You see...I've gone back to Mueller's!"

"I've been changing around to different brands lately—trying to save a few pennies here and there. But now I'm through experimenting with spaghetti and macaroni—I found it was false economy. I've gone back to Mueller's!"

"And now I see the old sparkle come back to the eyes of Jack and Junior when I serve them Mueller's. It looks so much more appetizing. And I see the old zest with which they eat: it tastes so much better, and it's so deliciously tender and light."

"Then I noticed, too, how much more Mueller's cooks up to, and I'm satisfied that this is the truest economy. So you see why I've gone back to Mueller's—and I'm sticking to it from now on!"

WHY MUELLER'S NEEDS ONLY 9 MINUTES' BOILING

The Mueller method enables the walls of Mueller's Macaroni and Spaghetti to be made as thin as it is possible for them to be, without collapsing in the cooking. Mueller's never varies, and consequently always requires the same time for boiling—9 minutes. Mueller's invariably cooks up light, fluffy and tender. It is richest in nourishment and is more easily digested.

Mueller quality begins with the ingredients—only the very finest—and continues through every stage of manufacturing and packaging.

"There's something homey about a pipe!"

"YOU CAN LAUGH if you want to, but I believe I enjoy your pipe almost as much as you do. It looks so homey and companionable. And the aroma of Granger Tobacco is very pleasing."

A great many people feel that same way about Granger. It is only logical that tobaccos made for cigarettes or for chewing cannot possibly have such a fine aroma as a tobacco made for pipes.

REBUILT BRUINS TACKLE LEAFES

BOSTON TEAM TO FIGHT N. H. L. FOES

Tomorrow night the 1933 edition of the Boston Bruins unfolds itself at Toronto against the World's Champion Maple Leafs.

The superiority complex is missing this year. And so is the former. The old and battle-tested winning Bruin replaces the "lucky bear." No more trying to outsmart Howie Morenz, Bill Cook or Al. Just "smack 'em down. And how the Bruins have it.

They are a great, big, happy family now. With the spirit on the big and no quiet snick. Bruin this year has plenty of what takes to play much tougher hockey. That first line of Clapper, Stewart and Bert Lumsden, three hundred pounds. And if the opposition gets to this crew, they're getting hurt. They can pick on Al. Morenz, Shore, Hitchman and Cook.

Get back to the happy. Last year a tip to the center was surprising to some of the boys. And a big help to Art Ross. The boys have turned to with him, vision and spirit. All for the team. A result which will reflect itself in the standing.

The addition of Nils Stravert, Rube Turner and Joe Lamb makes the Bruins as formidable a scoring machine as any team in the league. And the return of Red Reaume as good as ever helps point.

Peay Galbraith will be seen on the defense. Entirely this year. Peay's knowledge of the opposing players in the league is a big asset. Looking the best of the other defense men, he'll be outstripping them in there.

After the Maple Leafs the Bruins move on to Montreal for a league game with Les Canadiens Saturday night. On Tuesday, Nov. 13, the Bruins meet at the Boston Garden with the Montreal Maroons as the guests of the Canadiens.

Reason tickets are still available in all sections for those who have not yet procured them. But the Bruins are now in the Bruins CUBS IN PHILLY ROW.

The Bruins Cubes will play a 40 game season in Philadelphia. The Bruins Cubes will play a 40 game season in Philadelphia. The Bruins Cubes will play a 40 game season in Philadelphia.

Roosevelt Carries
Thirty by Ten Votes

COLUMBIA, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP).—The election of Woodrow Wilson as president of the United States was decided by a majority of approximately 300 electoral votes, or 30 by 10, in the Pennsylvania electoral college.

The complete tabulations at the University of Pennsylvania, which is the state official tallying center, showed that Wilson carried the state by a vote of 27 to 3.

Wilson's opponent, Charles D. Hughes, carried Baltimore 20 to 0. Roosevelt 113,460 as compared with 102,470 for Hughes, as tallied on Ohio's 867th precinct.

Much Hitler feeling was manifested during the course of the campaign for the election. A dot or two before the election Senator Brodinsky called at Governor F.D.A.'s office to demand the replacement of two Republican election officers whom the governor had previously named. At the time "I said he would ask police protection at the polls as he feared repeating.

Shoe

SHARRON

Here is a shoe to convert the woman who always thought comfortable shoes had to be awkward, clumsy-looking things—who has endured foot torture because she has never given Arch

Every Arch Preserver Shoe, no matter how graceful its lines, is a scientific shoe, with special comfort features.

There is the rigid arch, made of light-weight steel to support the body and to keep the arch from sagging or breaking down. The weight is borne easily, naturally and gracefully. The metatarsal support restores the forward arch and smoothes out cramped bones, muscles and nerves. The perfectly flat tread across the ball of the foot provides the natural walking base that Nature intended.

Arch Preserver Shoes prevent and correct foot troubles. Women who suffer from the common foot ills, from callouses and corns; from weak ankles; from aching muscles; from overpowering fatigue, find that in Arch Preserver Shoes feet are really eager for the work and play that formerly were a dread.

My stocks contain the widest range of sizes and widths. Every Arch Preserver Shoe is fitted by the famous "heel-to-ball" system, insuring that every part of the shoe fits every part of the foot.

Don't endure foot troubles another day. Wear Arch Preserver Shoes.

BEACON HILL

—by—

Betty Alden

IT IS TWO A. M. . . . we are reveling in the fragrance of red, red roses . . . dreaming of Grace Moore and her exquisite performance as the Dubarry . . .

Glowing reports have reached us of the success of Gotta Alpar in Berlin and Amy Ashbers in London . . . our own Southern prima donna added to her laurels won at the Metropolitan Opera House as the girlish Juliette, the demure Marie, the roqu shore Louise . . . she takes the Du Barry of history through the fur from conventional settings of Paul Knepler and Rowland Leigh.

MRS. FORESTER CLARKE

Boston demonstrates its well known lack of curiosity as we missed many familiar faces in the audience . . . musically creative . . . however, the Shubert was packed in the galleries . . . the applause was long and sincere . . .

Baskets of Flowers

AS A MUSICAL TRIUMPH . . . as a dramatic production . . . for the ballet and an . . . Boston has seen anything so quick.

After we had a warm and cozy fire of gloves laid a bare pointing on the arms of our chair, we wended our way behind the scenes, guided by the well known musical critic, Richardson Browne, to congratulate the artists . . . the handsome Howard Marsh, whose warm and vibrant voice thrilled as the port-lover Rene . . . the delightful Nana Bryant, whom we remember opposite Joseph Schildkraut in The Firebrand, as the royal intrigante par excellence who forms the keynote to the plot as she assists the glamorous Jeanne to meet the King . . .

Wading through baskets of roses, orchids and chrysanthemums, tribute to the return of Miss Moore to her first love, light opera, we found the prima donna snuggled in sables and wearing a large cluster of the Burridge ornaments . . . sent to her by our own Mrs. "Tim" Clarke (Kitty Burridge) with regrets that she had to miss the first performance but would be at the theater later in the week.

After merry greetings which included the author of the play, Roland Leigh, an inspiring-looking person . . . the talented Cleo Porter, who wrote the wicked, witty words and music for the Gay Divorce . . . that is, if our new blonde actresses-worshiper understood them . . . Schuyler Parsons, debonaire brother of the attractive Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth of Milton . . . when Greek meets Greek but this time at the Ritz . . . and others.

We climbed into taxis and motored over to our favorite rendezvous . . . accompanied by Margaret Clement, vocal maven, smartly attired in black satin and sequins, and the imperial Nana Bryant, who is equally stunning off the stage . . .

Mrs. Channing Wells in Audience

SO FRIENDS OF MIRTH CAME FORTH as we entered the luxurious suite of Miss Moore and her oh-so-charming Spanish husband, Valentine Perez . . . everyone sat about on the floor at the feet, literally of the foot of the evening . . . partaking of chicken salad . . . R. B.'s none too brilliant suggestion . . . yummy sandwiches and good spirits.

It is only after departing from this gay source with the melodious Millocker music running through our heads, that we remember whom we saw in the brilliant throng . . .

Among the first to put in an appearance was the beautiful Mrs. Channing Wells with a tall and handsome cavalier . . . her costume braved a dash of crimson . . . and why not?

To the contrary, demure Mrs. E. Gilpin Edwin, who chose the more put-on white with cloak of cloth of silver arrived with a large party . . .

Charlotte Young Wears Ermine Cape

SEVERAL OF THE DEBUTANTES were noted in the lobby for a brief puff between the acts . . . Rose Stearns, petite and pretty in the pink ball velvet . . . Charlotte, too sweet in a soft white ermine cape topped a hyacinth-blue velvet evening frock . . . surrounded by stags as usual . . .

Mrs. William Dana Orcutt and her husband, whose book on the life of Cellini we greatly enjoyed . . .

Rebekah Hobbs, very smartly turned out in black velvet costume with large mink collar, with her friend, Miss Louise Condit, and two swains . . .

It was election night . . . and so help us we didn't think about it until long after our lights were out . . . what a delightful evening!

The Junior League was crowded this week at the contract bridge lessons . . . Legions swarmed to meet the new teacher, who seems to be going over BIG.

Moved Into Smaller Home

THE CHESTER HUMPHREYS of 80 Pinckney st., Beacon Hill, have slid into a smaller apartment for the winter . . . it still takes the piano.

Eleanor Hallows was among those who had a large party at the Barclay on Saturday night . . . we hear they could not get into the Waterfront after the game . . . some evening!

We wonder how Mrs. Kingsbury Browne is faring at her summer-winter home in Plymouth . . . of course her husband motors her up to town for the smart social functions, but she is much missed by those who cannot see her more often.

We see that her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Page Browne, also from Pittsburgh, is coming to the fore in some of the delightful Concord affairs . . .

"No!" shrieked one of his companions. "Suppose a bullet enters the body of our friend inside the python's skin. It would amount to killing him all over again and we should never be free!"

Well, it was the world's largest indignation meeting.

It was the first time we had ever seen 46,000,000 lead pencils flashing in the sun.

We followed Mr. Hoover's advice not to vote for the wrong man.

We didn't. We slapped the cheek of the wrong man, Mr. Garner. And X marks the spot where the body politic was fouled.

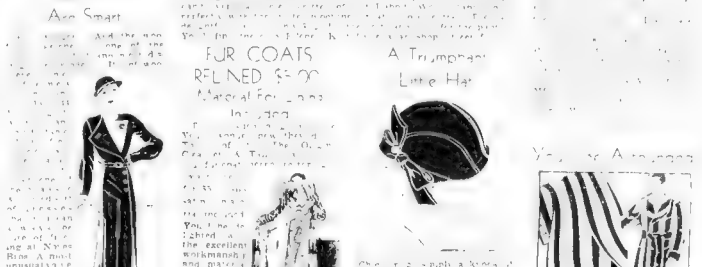

The Republicans should consider themselves very fortunate. They won't have to parade in the streets and run on March fourth, 1933.

It was a long, difficult struggle like chasing a tarantula through a bottle of band-aids. Those Republicans were like the tarantula in battle. Removing a man from the campaign payroll is a major operation.

It was the dupes of the campaign who ever listened to. If one-half those campaign charges are true, the country you ain't out on bail.

However, those harsh words will soon be forgotten. By next month the country will be so busy it will be shaking hands like sailors working the pumps in a pasture.

This Dog Mother Has a Monument

Human Mothers Will Have Their Monuments Some Day

THIS FEMALE FOXHOUND FOLLOWED HER MASTER'S COACH, ON FOOT, 150 MILES. SHE HAD GOOD PUPPIES AND A MONUMENT HONORS HER MEMORY

London's Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News uses this interesting picture to illustrate one of its articles on "Famous Fox Hunters," an article on Sir Thomas Mostyn, master of the Bicester foxhounds from 1860 to 1881.

What interests the average individual far removed from foxhounds and coaching is the picture of a foxhound mother trotting 150 miles behind her master's coach.

That is an accomplishment. When she died this model mother of foxhounds, of sons and daughters that were the finest of their breed, had erected in her honor a monument that still stands with a poem about her beginning:

Of all Ladies, live or dead,
In the Chase that is her speed,
Here the honored relics rest
Of the fittest and the best,
From the best of the best,
And in truth it may be said,
Lady, if we hope to see

A better Lady 'tis from thee.
Exult, foxes, for your foe,
Lies beneath this Pillar low,
Yet exulting, tremble, you,
Flee, your brushes to pursue,
From her blood abroad here
Lady, rest, like the Mother.

Sir Thomas was also fond of coaching and was in fact a coachman. He liked putting together four horses which had never been in harness before and after a few days driving them the 150 miles between Bicester and Mostyn. It is said that the celebrated foxhound and bitch "Lady" once followed the coach the whole distance on her own feet. "Lady" is first mentioned in the Stud Book, Vol. II, as the dam of a litter by Mr. Mostyn's "Gugman" in 1803, but it has since been traced that "Lady" was bred by Sir William Lowther (Lord Lonsdale). Four couples of her sons became famous sires, and her memory is perpetuated by a monument near the Bicester kennels. The inscription runs: "In Memory of LADY, Mother of most of his best Hounds, This Pillar was erected at Stratton Lodge, Bicester, by Sir Thomas Mostyn, Bart. Ann. Dom. 1812."

Wise Sir Thomas realized how much the dog owed to his good mother. Human beings have still to realize what good mothers mean among HUMAN BEINGS.

Where have you seen a monument to the mother of Fulton, who invented the steamboat? She, of course, really CREATED THE STEAMBOAT.

Where have you seen a monument to Nancy Hanks, the mother of Abraham Lincoln? It was she, of course, that FREED THE SLAVES, thus creating the great industrial movement in the South.

Where are the monuments to the mothers of Edison, who gave light to the world? Of Shakespeare, who gave light to the mind? Of Watt, who freed human slaves by creating metal slaves driven by steam?

Where are the monuments to the mothers of the five greatest intellects ever born on the earth, Aristotle, Michelangelo, Shakespeare, Newton, Beethoven?

The Jazz Majority

It seems a little late in the day to applaud jazz, but Henry Hadley, conductor of the New York Philharmonic, does it with severity. He told the Columbia Institute of Arts and Letters that those who like jazz are probably cases for the pathological ward. And to wind up, he said that jazz does not reflect a human mood and is "just the beating of tom-toms in the African jungle."

This is probably true, but it is dreadfully uncomplimentary to the African drum-men. Their art is very complex; they have kept it up for thousands of years. It must be human to them, even if their drums are made, as is probable, of human skin. They go in for counterpoint, delicate rhythms and seven-part time. Even if it is not superior to jazz, it can't be much worse.

Hadley is one of the cultivated minority. He should reflect that, after all, only a small portion of the globe—one-tenth of it—has produced the kind of music cultivated by the cultured. Whether the millions of radio crooners, Siamese and Tibetan singers, Scotch bagpipers, Scotch bagpipers, African and Asiatic musicians, and people who like the sound they make, ought to be clapped into the madhouse is the great perplex.

Diet and Fashions

The Venus-like figure is predicted for women by the Oklahoma Medical Society, which says that "business women have begun a war of their own against the diet-starved girls in their offices."

This comes with good cause for Oklahoma, which doesn't raise much wheat and can't, therefore, have a selfish interest in the plumping of women. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde came to grief lately saying that the plight of the farmers was due to women laying off food to acquire the silhouette shape. And the farmers were in quite a plight three decades ago, when the corn-fed, opulent form was the prevalent ideal and the Hollywood diet was never heard of.

But it is news that business men are demanding leanness in their stenographers. In Oklahoma at least, in Boston, so long as the stenographers can sell correctly nobody cares about their poundage, although a reasonably emaciated stenographer doesn't take up so much room and her lunch check is a little less. But as for warring against slimness, Bostonians just don't.

Something for a Rainy Day

Poor Uncle Sam, his suit has shrunk
To elbows and to knees;
It was not made to stand the test
Of rainstorms such as these.

But there's a suit that he can wear
That showers will not shrink,
And he'd be wearing that suit now
If he had stopped to think.

O. O. McIntyre New York Day by Day

The "Grind Show" (downhill) That's something over which a few of us skin-thinned grumblers, merely waiting to slip back into primitive ego, might ponder.

I notice the remembrance of growler rushing in the billow-fronted Yorktown bier-stubles. Walking across East 86th at the other dusk, I saw a half dozen emerge from this place, and with foaming pitchers and buckets.

In my self hair-cutting hall-room days with Wilson Burke, in Cincinnati, one of our minor deceptions was larding or buttering the inside of the growler. This reduced foam and resulted more of the solid article. In other words, a well-greased knicker growler produced six glasses, instead of four, and stop that screaming and wringing your hands!

Help Me Live Now!

GOD,
Help me to live, NOW!
Not in the future,
Nor in the dead past,
But NOW—
Within the mood
And in a living
OF TODAY.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

The dull decisions
And the dreary chores
Which fill each hour,
Instead,
I like to duck,
To crawl away,
And hide
Yet still pretend
That I am
Being brave—
AND FOR THE COWARD,
THERE'S NO HIDE-AY.
SO PERFECT
AS IN MEMORIES
OR DREAMS.

So easy to go back,
Back to the happy days
When life was sweet
And simple;
For a shirking heart
To say:
"These were the good years;
These are evil times;
I will forget
The middle we're in now,
And live once more
In that bright yesterday!"
So easy to say this,
And so escape
The duty we all have
To take our place
Within the trenches
OF TODAY.

Of romance and achievement—
Bright visions of the things
We'll "someday" do—
And so avoid the things
We ought to do.
Yet still pretend
That we are doing things.

I know!
For all my life
I've tried to get away—
And so have you!

So help me, now,
Dear Father,
Help me to live, TODAY!
Give me the courage
To abstain from dreams,
Be the valor to resist
The drug of memory;
And help me face
The challenges of this hour,
Meeting each day
In faith all I have of faith
And energy and joy,
Until, at last,
When all the dawns
Are over, I can say:
"So now
It's time to die!"
Well, Death, I'm ready.
I have no regrets.

Blunders?
Yes, many!
But I never hid!
I met it all,
All that each hour held:
Sole occupant of pride and pomp!
Sole occupant of pride and pomp!
When finished is her daily romp,
The Bishop's chair, I'd tell your Grace,
Becomes a terror's sleeping place.

Massachusetts Rewards Good Service and Joins Forward March Program

The re-election of Governor Ely by an astonishing margin, more than five times greater than that which marked his initial victory two years ago, shows that the citizens appreciate good service, and demonstrates the confidence the taxpayers have in the ability and courage of their favorite son.

The governor will be blessed during his second term with a lieutenant governor more in accord with Democratic ideas and ideals than he was during his first two years. He also will have with him most of the other state officials.

This blessing, however, brings an added responsibility. A united house can have no excuses for nonfulfillment of official obligations. The Commonwealth expects a great deal from Governor Ely. The Evening American, which gave the governor his only real support when he first was a candidate for the office, and which is proud to have led the fight for his reelection, has every confidence the public will continue to be proud of him and of his work.

If deeds of the past are any forecast of the future, Governor Ely will go far in the public life of his country.

Massachusetts joins in the forward march of the nation, through the great victory won in the state by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The national government is now almost solidly Democratic; it is well that this great state can take a leading part in the progressive action which is assured us in this new deal. President Roosevelt will need the active co-operation of progressive governors, such as Governor Ely—men who think and feel about public matters and the welfare of his country, as he does. Governor Roosevelt's overwhelming victory, which set at zero the bitter campaign of fear and intimidation waged against him here as well as in other states, and made ridiculous the Republican claims of victory in Massachusetts, showed in resounding fashion that Massachusetts believes in him and his pledges for the future.

President-elect Roosevelt has a united party behind him throughout the nation, as well as the hopes and good wishes of millions of men and women.

The Evening American is proud of our President-to-be, and of its part in bringing the campaign in Massachusetts to such a happy conclusion.

Yes, the stores and banks all opened for business as usual today, despite terrifying Republican forebodings. The stock market opened strong. Men continued to work—that is, those who have work in these Hooverized days. No shops and mills closed down.

All seems to be well with the world. Happy days will soon be here again. The new deal will soon be under way.

For Jobless Youths U. S. Should Aid States Start Training Camps

According to a survey conducted by thirty national social service agencies, young Americans to the number of 200,000 are roaming the country today in search of food, clothing, shelter and an opportunity "to settle down and earn a living."

More than 100,000 of these jobless wanderers would be eligible, it is estimated, for admission to emergency Citizens' Military Training Camps.

Every State in the Union ought to welcome the opportunity to establish such a camp before Winter sets in, and salvage its future citizens before distress drives them from home and forces them to become hitch-hikers for charity.

Any State in the Union that requests Federal aid in the organization of Winter emergency camps for its homeless youths should get it promptly.

The Federal Government is well able to provide organization plans for such camps and to co-operate with the National Guard and organized reserves in providing competent instructors. In past national emergencies the Federal Government has utilized its military establishments for relief work with excellent results.

In the present national emergency the War Department is well equipped to render through its corps area commanders, North, East, South and West, the practical aid which States would require to reclaim these jobless wanderers, most of whom would much prefer emergency training for citizenship in Winter camps to hitch-hiking for charity.

Instead of waiting until next Summer to conduct Citizens' Military Training Camps, the Federal Government should co-operate with the several States in launching these camps at the beginning of Winter.

Admission to these camps should be limited to jobless and homeless youths under 21 years of age. And every State should seize the opportunity to establish such a camp forthwith and authorize its National Guard to assist the Regular Army and organized reserves in making these 48 emergency Winter camps a respectable and useful refuge for hitch-hiking young America.
